

REBEL YELL IN CANTON

Ex-Confederates of Virginia See McKinley.

WERE ESCORTED BY BOYS IN BLUE

The Candidate Heard the Cheers of the Chicago Crowds--The Day's Delegations.

CANTON, Oct. 9.—Of all the enthusiastic demonstrations since the St. Louis convention, Canton has never seen the like of today's doings. The "rebel yell" was heard for the first time on her streets. The visit of the old Confederate warriors from the Shenandoah valley brought thousands of people to town. The 1800 Virginians were met by the Union veterans of Canton, several hundred strong. They came with badges inscribed "No North, no South, no East, no West; the Union Forever." Arm in arm with the old boys in blue, the veterans in gray were escorted to tabernacle, where the G. A. R. and Woman's Relief Corps served their dinner. They had a new version of an old song, and sang "We're Coming, Father McKinley, 200,000 strong."

From the tabernacle to the McKinley home, the streets were lined with people. Three hundred Cleveland veterans joined in the escort. The bands played "Dixie," "America" and "Marching Thro' Georgia." The throngs of people on the way joined in the yells of the marchers as best they could. When the great crowd lined up about the home, it filled the doorway and the streets round about. This compelled Major McKinley to speak from a small temporary stand covered with the national colors in order that he might be heard. The crowd was so dense it was with difficulty that he reached the rostrum from the house, under the escort of committees of old comrades-in-arms, and of those he fought against him as a boy with Sheridan, down the Shenandoah valley.

Editors F. H. Fankhouser, of the state Republican committee, spoke on behalf of the delegation in general. In concluding a felicitous address of greeting and assurance of support, Mr. Fankhouser introduced Confederate General John E. Roller, who spoke on behalf of the soldiers.

After Major McKinley had responded to these addresses, ex-Mayor R. A. Cassidy, of Canton, presented the visitors a magnificent banner by which to remember their visit here. On one side is represented clasped hands, indicating the union of all the soldiers. Above these hands are the words, "United We Stand" and "McKinley Club" in large, gold letters. On the reverse is a large American eagle in gold, resting upon a large shield. This side bears the inscription, "Presented to ex-Confederate Veterans of the Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, by ex-Union Veterans of Canton, Ohio, October 9, 1896."

KILLED THE ENGINEER.

Another Fatal Collision on the Southern Pacific.

REDWOOD CITY, Cal., Oct. 9.—A serious freight-train collision occurred about 2 o'clock this morning on the coast division of the Southern Pacific, between Mayfield and Palo Alto. As a result of the collision, the engineer of the freight train from San Jose to San Francisco was killed and another of the train crew was seriously injured.

Last night six empty cars were left on a siding at Palo Alto. Early this morning the "empties," started to move on the siding. The grade between Palo Alto and Mayfield is very steep, and the empty cars soon acquired a high rate of speed. The cars ran a mile down the road, when, at Geer's crossing, they collided with a freight train coming from San Francisco.

The engineer of the freight train supposed he had an absolutely clear track, and was coming at a good rate of speed with a heavy train. The night was dark, and before he could perceive his danger, the fugitive cars crashed into his locomotive, throwing it off the track, twisting the engine and smashing it badly. The "empties" and freight cars were piled high in a general heap of ruins. Over 20 cars were badly smashed up. The track at the point of collision is absolutely impassable, and at daylight a construction gang began to lay a new track around the wreck.

Henry Haggerty, engineer of the freight train, was killed. Fireman W. Bower was badly injured. The freight train from San Jose was running 40 miles an hour, when it struck the runaway cars going in the opposite direction. The effect of the collision was remarkably de-

HAVANA, Oct. 9.—Weyler is fooling Lee. The order prohibiting the American consular general from visiting the military prison keeps him from personally investigating the condition of American prisoners there. He has to rely upon what Weyler tells him. In their last interview General Lee complained of the unsatisfactory condition of the cells the American prisoners were in. Weyler replied boldly:

"Oh, I have attended to this matter. They have been removed to cells Nos. 41 and 42."

General Lee retired flattered at his supposed success, not knowing the Americans have always occupied cells Nos. 41 and 42.

Those cells, by the way, are gloomy and so damp that water oozes from the ceilings and trickles down the walls, wetting the floor, which never dries. In one of these wretched cells are Melton, the American newspaper man, and George Aguirre, locked up with a man suffering from smallpox. The disagreement between Weyler and Lee, continues, the arrested Americans suffering the consequences.

Crime of a Madman.

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Oct. 5.—Albert Bray, aged 39, a farmer, a very religious man, cut the throats of his wife, 9-year-old son, Carl, 2-year-old daughter, Edna, and himself, between midnight and daylight this morning, five miles north of here. The wife and children died without a struggle. Bray, with a gaping wound in his throat, lived until noon today without regaining consciousness. Bray crushed the skulls of his victims with an ax after he cut their throats with a razor.

Bray, owing to sickness in his family during the past few months, and financial embarrassment, lost his reason. He retired early last night. Mrs. Dora Bray, a domestic, went to bed with Edna Bray. Shortly after 9 o'clock she was awakened by Bray walking into the room in his stocking feet. He removed his daughter into an adjoining room, where she was found with her throat cut from ear to ear. It is thought he killed Carl next while the boy lay asleep. Bray then went into the room where his invalid wife lay, slashed her neck, and, seeing the cut was too low, made a second and successful effort to kill her.

CHURCHMAN'S APPEAL

Archbishop Ireland on the Issues of the Day.

THE BATTLE FOR HONOR AND LAW

He Gives Sound Reasons for Standing By the Republican Platform and Candidates.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 11.—Archbishop Ireland, in response to the written request of 27 businessmen of this state, who are of all political opinions, gave the following statement (addressed to them) to the Associated Press:

"I am not unwilling, in the crisis through which the country is now passing, to speak for the integrity of the nation, for social order, for the prosperity of the people, for the honor of America and the permanency of free institutions. I am a citizen of the country, concerned in all the interests of the nation, subject to all responsibilities of citizenship. To be silent when words of mine may be of some profit to the people, would be cowardice, would be crime.

"I am not unmindful of the objection made against the churchman speaking at any time on matters which have entered the arena of politics, lest his influence as a teacher of religion seem to be used to promote the interests of a political party. I might reply that there are occasions when a political platform means disaster to the country, when politics are closely connected with morals or religion, and that on these occasions the churchman must be the patriot without allowing a moment's thought to considerations of the expediency and must take in hand the moral or religious issue, even if it be vested in the garments of politics. But in the present instance, I seek no excuse of this kind; I speak entirely as the citizen, without warrant from my ecclesiastical position.

"Deep as my convictions are, I hold in all due respect my fellow-citizens who hold convictions at variance with my own. I impeach neither their good faith, nor their honor. I am dealing not with men, but with principles, and movements. The justice which I render to those whose ideas I am ready to combat I am sure they will render to me.

"I stand by the platform and the presidential candidate of the Republican convention at St. Louis. I am opposed to the platform and the presidential candidate of the Democratic convention at Chicago. The days of the civil war excepted, at no time did so great peril threaten the country, as that which is involved in the political campaign of today."

MACCO'S STRONG POSITION.

Entrenched Himself in the Mountains, Where He Cannot Be Dislodged.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—A special to the Times-Herald from Key West, Fla., says:

The sudden return of George Bernal to Havana from the northern coast of the province of Pinar del Rio, where he was sent by General Weyler to command the Spanish forces in the recent engagements against Antonio Maceo, has caused a profound sensation in Havana.

General Bernal has returned on sick leave and has asked to be sent to Spain, being thoroughly disheartened over the result of the campaign just inaugurated against the insurgents in Pinar del Rio. The general reports that Maceo has thoroughly reorganized his forces in the last few weeks, and entrenched himself in the most commanding positions of the mountain fastnesses and that any attempt to dislodge him would be sure to result in disastrous failure and wholesale slaughter of the Spaniards.

The folly of attempting to dislodge Maceo has been fully demonstrated, General Bernal said, in all the recent engagements. From the commanding positions, the Spanish officers were picked off by sharpshooters, and the troops lacking leaders, became demoralized and were slaughtered like sheep.

Cautious True Democrats Against Voting the Bryan Ticket--Gives Reasons for His Course.

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 12.—In a letter to Samuel Bancroft, jr., editor of the Every Evening, Thomas F. Bayard, ambassador to Great Britain, has repudiated the platform and nominees of the Democratic national convention, and advises constitutional Democrats to vote for Palmer and Buckner. The latter is in part as follows:

"It seems scarcely possible that any one could be in doubt in relation to my personal opinion upon the serious issue now placed before our countrymen by the machinery of several political organizations. When a citizen, professing himself to be a Democrat is called upon by many or by few to yield his convictions and assent to a doctrine that congress has the power and can rightfully exercise it by its legislative fiat, to create values and regardless of their intrinsic commercial value invest one or the other of the earth's metals with arbitrary power as money and override and alter at legislative will or caprice the ratio of exchange or ability of such metal, regardless of the impairment of obligation contracts, his answer should be that such a claim of power is not consistent with the government's limited powers as defined by our constitution, but contains the quintessence of tyranny, dishonesty and absolutism and is destructive of that morality which is essential to the peace and stability of civilized society. It is, in plain words, a proposition to destroy the institution of property and break down every legal defense for its protection.

"This one question and its answer sufficiently justifies the prompt and absolute refusal of the constitutional Democrat to support in any degree the nominees of the Chicago convention and the preposterous claims of legislative power contained in their platform, under which the credit of the nation and the peace and order of society would inevitably perish.

"On the other hand, we have a Republican organization whose measures and whose leaders have steadily created such a ticket and such propositions as were presented at Chicago. While compelled to recoil from a policy favoring the compulsory purchase and coinage of silver as unlimited legal tender yet it is insistently proposed to employ and intensify the profound powers of public taxation, to prohibit commerce with other countries and thereby prevent revenue from coming into the public treasury, and to levy taxes which shall prevent the payment and collection of other taxes necessary for the support of the government, whose powers are directed personally upon each individual citizen and over every part of land or water within the national boundaries.

"Every constitutional Democrat can truly reply to such propositions that they are fraught with such gross illegality between man and man as to be inconsistent with public duty because they employ the most far-reaching and sovereign power known to the government to impoverish the working and poorer members of society, who form the great American majority, and to aggrandize those already financially stronger. Every man, faithful to the principles of his party, can properly refuse to aid in the election of candidates avowing the principles and policies that have so plainly led to our present dangers, and which are manifestly fatal to the welfare of our country.

"But, happily, there remains a citadel and an asylum for the political conscience of any man who is honestly convinced that the path of duty leads him to keep steadily in view the great purposes for which our fathers ordained the constitution for the formation of a more perfect union, the insurance of domestic tranquility, provision for common defense, promotion of the welfare and security of liberty of ourselves and our country. Happily the candidates are presented upon a clear and unambiguous platform that assures safety to the financial honor of our country and to the honest business transactions of all its citizens without discrimination as to race, age, sex, occupation or fortune. The personal reputations of the candidates of the national constitutional Democracy, Palmer and Buckner, are unimpaired, and guarantees their fidelity to

SUCCESS IS CERTAIN.

The Election of McKinley Is Already Assured.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—At the national Republican headquarters today, after a conference of the entire executive committee, the following was given out: "The election of McKinley and Hobart is an accomplished and assured fact. They will receive 270 electoral votes, Bryan will receive 110, and there are six states, having 67 electoral votes, which are doubtful, but the probabilities at present point to the fact that these 67 will go into the Republican column and be added to the 270 now assured for McKinley and Hobart. This is the status today. We have the election, and will hold it. The opposition has abandoned the East. M. S. QUAY."

After October 26, he will be in Washington till the end of the campaign and will speak in Tacoma, Olympia, Seattle and Spokane.

Why Does Not Mr. Bryan Answer?

Mr. Bryan tells the farmers that free coinage of silver will give them cheap dollars with which to pay their debts.

Mr. Bryan tells city workmen that free coinage of silver will raise the metal to $1.29 per ounce, bringing the silver dollar to par with the gold dollar, thus giving city workmen another dollar as good as the present one with which to buy the farmers' products.

That is to say, to the farmer the Bryan silver dollar is to be a cheap dollar to pay debts with. To city labor the Bryan dollar is to be a dollar of high purchasing power to buy with. Free coinage of silver cannot produce these two dollars. It can produce only one of the two. Why do not would be supporters of Mr. Bryan ask him which dollar he really means? Both the farmer, who wants to pay debts, and the workman, who must buy farm produce, are interested in having this question answered.—Chicago Times-Herald.

One Unsettled Point.

An old man who bore evidence of more work than culture approached a representative of a free silver paper the other day in the state library.

"Can I ask you a question?"

"Certainly."

"Well, if we have free silver coinage, we'll all have more money, won't we?"

"Why, yes, certainly. That's easy to answer."

"Well, what I want to know," said the old fellow earnestly, "is whether they will bring it to me or whether I'll have to go after it."—Nebraska State Journal.
